

Homological algebra in triangulated categories

Ralf Meyer

Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Germany

A homological ideal in a triangulated category allows to carry over various notions of homological algebra to this setting, including derived functors. I will explain how to compute these derived functors and discuss two examples: the derived category of a ring and equivariant bivariant K -theory.